South East Asian Intercollegiate Seminar

10 - 11 NOVEMBER 2016

CALL FOR PAPERS

Rethinking the Role of World Englishes in the ASEAN Community: Issues and Applications

Hosted by:

Department of English Language Education

Faculty of Education and Language

The Intercollegiate Seminar initially started as a biennial seminar for students of English major across Indonesia. As a response toward the establishment of the ASEAN Economic Community (AEC) in 2015, this year, the seminar hopes to bring insights on the role of English toward achieving a 'Global ASEAN' by inviting undergraduate as well as post-graduate (Master) students of English major from countries in the Southeast Asia region. In particular, this seminar aims to provide an opportunity for students to present their research findings on various studies of English such as English language teaching and testing, language acquisition, English linguistics, and English varieties.
